

ACADEMIC RESOURCES

Penn offers a wide variety of resources, offices, and programs for graduate students to support them in all aspects of their Penn experience.

The Graduate Student Center (<https://gsc.upenn.edu/>) is a central hub for resources, activities, support, and advocacy for all graduate and professional students at Penn. The Grad Center provides a range of services and resources to empower graduate and professional students to participate fully in the graduate community at Penn. Whether students need help finding mentorship, building connections on campus, accessing accommodations, or something else, there are a range of resources and staff at Penn who are here and ready to help. The Grad Center has an expansive resource guide (<https://gsc.upenn.edu/resources/>) to make it easy for students to connect with the help they need.

The following list highlights some additional resources and publications for graduate students:

- Academic Calendar (<http://catalog.upenn.edu/graduate/academic-resources/academic-calendar/>)
- Advising & Mentoring PhD Students (<http://catalog.upenn.edu/graduate/academic-resources/advising-mentoring/>)
