YES User Guide: Catalog Search and Academic Planner

The YES Catalog is a full listing of all courses approved at Vanderbilt. Available year-round through the Student Registration application, the Catalog features search functionality similar to that within the YES Schedule. In addition, it contains an Academic Planner tool that allows students to organize preferred courses and plan out their academic career.

Description

This course is designed to emphasize the concepts of coordinated perioperative medicine and enhanced recovery after surgery (ERAS). Evidence-based guidelines, optimization/standardization of perioperative care, and multimodal strategies to decrease postoperative morbidities are key components of ERAS. The student will function as integral part of the Perioperative Anesthesia Consult Service and learn fundamental aspects of anesthetic care that maximize perioperative pain control and reduce morbidity and healthcare costs related to cardiac, pulmonary, renal, endocrine, PONV complications or surgical site infections. The student will have an opportunity to be involved in the preoperative, intraoperative, and postoperative management of surgical patients on ERAS pathways.
