Master of Public Policy (MPP)

The Master of Public Policy (MPP) is a full-time, two-year degree program, delivered in-person by the College of Public Policy at HBKU. The program features a distinctive combination of interdisciplinarity, strong ethical foundations, entrepreneurship in public management, and innovation in policy-making and design.

The MPP provides training to graduate students from a range of disciplines in the skills needed to understand and enrich policy-making in Qatar and the region. The program will offer world-class academic and professional training in public policy analysis, design, implementation, evaluation, and management; as well as specializations in social policy, and in energy and the environment.

Program mission

The mission of the Master of Public Policy is to educate, enlighten, and empower the next generation of ethically grounded public leaders in Qatar and beyond.

We strive to provide critical knowledge and skills to address complex sociopolitical, socioeconomic, and environmental challenges for the public good. Through a rigorous curriculum, students will be equipped to foster equitable and responsible decisions. We seek to provide an inclusive and diverse learning environment to promote a culture of excellence, integrity, respect, and fairness. We experiment with, analyze, design, and evaluate innovative, evidence-informed, and future-oriented policy options and solutions.

The program enhances meaningful contributions to the community through public service and social value. Our graduates aspire to effectively communicate, contribute, and facilitate positive global and local impacts.

Accreditation

- ▶ The Masters of Public Policy (MPP) is the first MPP in Qatar and the Gulf region to be triple-accredited by three external accreditation bodies. This is a testament to our students, our faculty, and our globally-recognized program management along with the quality of the HBKU learning environment.
- ▶ The European Association for Public Administration Accreditation (EAPAA) for the 2024-2030 period. It is the first MPP program in the Gulf region and the second MPP program in the Middle East and North African (MENA) region to earn such an important recognition.
- ▶ The International Commission on Accreditation of Public Administration (ICAPA) for the 2025-2031 period. It is the first MPP program in the Gulf region and the second MPP program in the MENA region to earn such a respected recognition.
- ▶ The U.S.-based Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs, and Administration (NASPAA) for the 2025-2032 period. It is the second program in the Gulf region and the third MPP program in the MENA region to earn this prestigious accreditation.

Program goals

- ▶ To create a comprehensive curriculum that provides students with a strong foundation in public policy, including an ethical understanding of the political, economic, and social dynamics that shape policy decisions.
- ▶ To cultivate an environment of respect and inclusion where students can explore and debate a wide range of policy issues in a constructive and civil manner.
- ▶ To promote agile and responsive individuals and institutions that foster positive, sustainable change.
- ▶ To encourage multi-disciplinary and evidence-informed scholarship that contributes to advancing public policy knowledge and practice.
- ▶ To empower leaders who are knowledgeable and ethical public policy professionals able to identify, analyze, and develop innovative solutions to complex policy problems.
- ▶ To provide a range of collaborative, participatory, and leadership opportunities that allow students to apply their knowledge and skills to real-world problems.

Program values

- ▶ Integrity - Adherence to strong ethical principles, honesty, transparency, accountability, and fairness.
- ▶ Inclusivity - Commitment to creating a diverse, equity-oriented, culturally responsive, and inclusive learning environment.
- ▶ Community - Fostering collaboration, critical thinking, and civil discourse.
- ▶ Service - Dedication to leadership, resilience, and innovation for the public good.
- ▶ Sustainability - Encouraging socially responsible environmental stewardship.

Program focus

The MPP program builds on the four pillars of public policy: policy analysis, economics, public management ethics, and research methodology. It is designed to integrate analysis, research, and the practical application of knowledge, from an interdisciplinary perspective. Other distinctive features include a strong focus on ethics in the program design and real-world experiences. The specializations will complement and deepen the core training, and encourage students to work with clients in addressing current policy problems. The program's ambition is to create thinkers who can do, and doers who can think.

Graduates of this program will be equipped to:

- ▶ Articulate and map major multidisciplinary debates, schools of thought, and theoretical approaches in the policy sciences.
- ▶ Critically analyze policy problems by using locally and globally relevant multidisciplinary perspectives with rigorous and appropriate methods.
- ▶ Collaborate effectively via culturally responsive and equity-oriented activities with relevant policymakers, leaders, and other stakeholders.
- ▶ Utilize effective verbal and written skills to encourage community service, public service, policy analysis, and evaluation.
- ▶ Apply ethical standards in policy research, research design, and adaptive policy practice.
