

PUBLIC MANAGEMENT, MA/ INTELLIGENCE, CERTIFICATE

MA in Public Management/Certificate in Intelligence

Students pursuing the Master of Arts in Public Management may obtain an additional credential by completing a sequence of courses offered by the Certificate in Intelligence program. This combined credential will require students to complete 15 courses (compared to the 17 that would be required to complete both programs separately).

At a time when governments are faced with an array of unprecedented challenges, good management, critical thinking, and analytical skills are essential. The Johns Hopkins MA in Public Management/Certificate in Intelligence trains students in the fundamentals of public management (policy analysis, financial management, economics, and public administration) and the core skills required to succeed as an intelligence analyst in the public and private sectors.

Please note that this catalog entry is for currently enrolled students only. The Certificate in Intelligence program is no longer accepting new applicants.
