

International Program in Agricultural Development Studies (IPADS)

Graduate School of Agricultural and Life Sciences

The University of Tokyo

Admission Guidelines - MSc Program (2026-2027 Academic Year, Enrollment in October 2026)

Our educational and research missions:

The Graduate School of Agricultural and Life Sciences aims to promote advanced education and research in the field of agricultural and life sciences and nurture highly specialized human resources that can tackle the diverse range of food and environmental issues in the world.

Students we seek:

- Having a will and basic capabilities to tackle the diverse issues surrounding food and the environment challenged by the agricultural and life sciences.
- Having a global perspective and being enthusiastic about acquiring advanced expertise and improving research capability.

Selection policy:

Below are the basic criteria for the selection,

- Having specialized knowledge in the field of the applicant's choice, as well as broad knowledge and sufficient English proficiency in the agricultural and life sciences in general.
- Having the willingness and ability to work independently to acquire knowledge and discover problems.

Graduate School of Agricultural and Life Sciences, The University of Tokyo, seeks MSc candidates for the School's International Program in Agricultural Development Studies (IPADS) for the Academic Year 2026-2027 (enrolling in October 2026) according to the following Admission Guidelines.

1. Program Overview

The IPADS MSc program is the only Master's program taught entirely in English at the Graduate School of Agricultural and Life Sciences. The program equips the students to be global leaders in the agricultural sector who have the capacity to identify and implement solutions to various agricultural, environmental, and resource management issues in developing countries. Students engage in a truly interdisciplinary curriculum filled with cutting-edge research from all sub-disciplines covering agriculture, encompassing both natural and social sciences. As fully integrated members of the School's Department of Global Agricultural Sciences, IPADS students have numerous opportunities to participate in seminars and international symposia, and to work collaboratively with faculty members and fellow students, including those from the School's other departments and graduate programs. Approximately fifteen students will be admitted for the Academic Year 2026-2027.

2. Eligibility

To be eligible to apply for this program, the applicant must meet all the following criteria.

(1) Academic qualification

A Bachelor's degree or equivalent is required as of 30 September 2026. The admission automatically becomes void if a student who has applied prior to the conferment of a Bachelor's degree fails to attain it by 30 September 2026. In addition, applicants must have completed, as of 30 September 2026, a total of 16 or more years of education, including a minimum of three years of higher education for a Bachelor's or equivalent degree. Applicants holding an equivalent degree (other than a Bachelor's) must contact the IPADS Office in advance to confirm their eligibility for admission. Applicants with fewer years of education must demonstrate that they are able to obtain the Bachelor's degree prior to enrollment to the IPADS.

(2) English language proficiency

A very high level of English language proficiency adequate to engage in world-class postgraduate study is required.

(3) Academic records and research plan

Applicants must possess excellent academic records and a sound plan for their MSc research that suits the program's philosophy.

(4) Date of arrival

All newly admitted students must arrive in Tokyo by the designated date in September 2026. Those who cannot arrive in Tokyo by September 2026 must obtain late arrival permission from the IPADS Office. Permission will be granted only for special circumstances.

The University of Tokyo has established the "University of Tokyo Security Export Control Regulations" based on the "Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act" and implements strict security export control before and during the acceptance of students in terms of providing technology and exporting goods. In particular, international students and some Japanese students are required to undergo screening prior to acceptance.

Therefore, please note that if a student falls under any of the items regulated by the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Law, even if the applicant is finally accepted through the selection process of the entrance examination, the applicant may not be allowed to enroll thereafter, or the applicant's desired research activities may be restricted after enrollment.

3. Fees and Tuition

The following fees and tuition are applicable.

- (1) Examination fee (payable upon being shortlisted): ¥10,000
- (2) Enrollment fee (payable upon admission): ¥282,000
- (3) Tuition (payable annually): ¥535,800

These fees and tuition are correct as of October 2025 and are subject to change based on revisions of university regulations.

4. Financial Support and Student Services

- (1) The examination fee, enrollment fee, and tuition are waived for current recipients of the Japanese Government (Monbukagakusho, hereafter MEXT) Scholarships on submission of a certificate showing their scholarship status.
- (2) A limited number of full scholarships funded by the Japanese Government (hereafter MEXT Scholarships) may be available to outstanding applicants. These scholarships cover the examination fee, enrollment fee and tuition, international airfare as well as living expenses.

There are two ways for prospective applicants to apply for MEXT Scholarships:

(2-1) MEXT "University Recommendation" Scholarship

A limited number of the fully-funded scholarships provided by the Japanese government may be offered each year to outstanding international applicants to IPADS, based on the university's recommendation. Selection will be conducted concurrently with the Round One screening for admission to IPADS. The examination fee should be paid by the MEXT Scholarship applicants at the time of application for IPADS and shall be refunded later if they are admitted in IPADS as MEXT Scholarship recipients.

(2-2) MEXT “Embassy Recommendation” Scholarship

Prospective international students interested in this scholarship should contact the Japanese Embassy or Consulate in their home country. Although deadlines vary by country, the application period typically falls between March and May. The selection processes for the scholarship and IPADS admission (Round Two) are conducted separately by the Japanese government and IPADS (university) respectively though they take place around the same time.

Please note: Applicants are not allowed to apply for both MEXT “Embassy recommendation” and “University recommendation” scholarships for the same admission cycle. For more details, please refer to the Japanese Government \(Monbukagakusho: MEXT\) Scholarship information.

(3) The University offers the University of Tokyo Fellowship, which is a scholarship to provide a grant to outstanding postgraduate international students who are privately funded to assist their academic pursuits at the University. A monthly grant during the standard period of their program is provided to a limited number of outstanding MSc and PhD students in IPADS. Selection for the University of Tokyo Fellowship will be conducted concurrently with the admissions process. Applicants who wish to be considered must indicate their interest on the application form.

(4) The University also offers a tuition waiver program for other students who meet certain criteria. Students can apply to this program during the designated period.

(5) For all other students, it is their own responsibility to secure funds for fees and tuition. While students are eligible to apply for internal and external scholarships during the designated period, the University does not guarantee that all students are financially assisted.

(6) Student services, including housing information services and limited health services, are provided to all students.

5. Application Process

The selection will be carried out in two separate rounds (Round One and Round Two) as per the following timetable. Applicants who apply for both rounds are considered in both, unless admitted through Round One.

	Round One	Round Two
Approximate number of students to be admitted	8	7
Deadline for online prescreening	19 October 2025 (Sunday)	15 February 2026 (Sunday)
Announcement of shortlisted candidates	by 17 November 2025 (Monday)	by 6 March 2026 (Friday)
Deadline for PDF application (shortlisted candidates only) * Original documents should be submitted during the designated period in September 2026 for admitted applicants.	9 December 2025 (Tuesday)	29 March 2026 (Sunday)
Notification of the final result	by 10 February 2026 (Tuesday)	by 12 May 2026 (Tuesday)

An applicant from a developing country who concurrently applies for a scholarship scheme supported by Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) should follow the application schedule published by the JICA office in the applicant's home country.

5A. Prescreening

Potential applicants must show their intention to apply by submitting an online application form available on the program website along with electronic copies of the documents marked * in 5B. Application by midnight (Japan Standard Time) of 19 October 2025 (for Round One) or 15 February 2026 (for Round Two). Following the prescreening, those who meet the eligibility criteria and are considered suitable for consideration for admission (shortlisted candidates) will be invited to submit the application documents listed below. This invitation is made online on the program website on or before 17 November 2025 (for Round One) or 6 March 2026 (for Round Two).

5B. Application

For shortlisted candidates to be officially considered for admission, electronic copies of the following documents must be received by the IPADS Office and the examination fee must be paid no later than 9 December 2025 (for Round One) or 29 March 2026 (for Round Two). Documents (*) already submitted during the prescreening process (5A) are not required to submit again, however, any updated documents may be submitted by the deadline. The IPADS Office will not consider late applications. Original documents of the following (2) and (3) should be physically submitted to the Graduate Student Section of the Graduate School during the enrollment registration period in September 2026. Note that if any discrepancies are found between the submitted electronic and original ones, the admission will be canceled at any time even after enrollment.

(1) Application form with a face photograph—The form will be distributed to shortlisted candidates. A face photograph of the applicant—must be taken within 6 months of the submission deadline; 4.5 cm x 3.5 cm, upper body only, full face without a hat—should be attached electronically to the application form.

(2)* Proof of a Bachelor's degree—Electronic copy of an original document with the official seal of the institution such as a degree certificate. If the document is in a language other than English or Japanese, an official English translation (translated by the institution, a government official /organization, or a notarized translator) must be attached to the original document. For an applicant who has not been awarded the degree at the time of application, an official certificate from the institution stating the expected date of completion needs to be submitted. In addition, applicants with less than 16 years of academic history including primary, secondary, and higher education, need to submit a statement clearly explaining their academic history.

(3)* Official transcripts—Electronic copies of original transcripts from all universities and colleges the applicant has previously attended, with the official seal of the institution. Transcripts must clearly demonstrate the grading system of the institution. If the transcripts are in a language other than English or Japanese, an official English translation (translated by the institution, a government official/organization, or a notarized translator) must be attached to the original transcripts.

(4)* Proof of English proficiency—Either a TOEFL Score Report or an IELTS Test Report Form. For TOEFL iBT, applicants must arrange for the ETS (Educational Testing Service) to electronically forward the report to IPADS, Graduate School of Agricultural and Life Sciences, the University of Tokyo (DI Code C351). TOEFL iBT Home Edition is acceptable as well. Scores of TOEFL Essentials can also be accepted as an alternative to above mentioned TOEFL scores. Scores of TOEFL ITP (Institutional Testing Program) are NOT accepted. In addition, only individual scores from a single test date are accepted for TOEFL. TOEFL MyBest scores are NOT considered for the screening.

For IELTS, an electronic copy of the score report indicating TRF (Test Report Form) number must be submitted. IELTS Indicator is also acceptable. However, IELTS One Skill Retake is NOT accepted.

For both TOEFL and IELTS, only test reports taken on or after 1 December 2023 for Round One and 1 April 2024 for Round Two will be accepted.

Applicants who meet one of the following criteria are exempt from submitting the English proficiency test score. Please note that applicants from countries where English is an official language are not exempt from the English language requirement unless they meet one of the exemption criteria listed below.

- have completed or are completing their Bachelor's program that is taught entirely in English in one of the following 7 countries: Australia, Canada, Ireland, New Zealand, South Africa, United Kingdom, and the United States of America;
- have worked full-time in a professional or academic environment where English has been used solely for at least three of the past six years in one of the above countries ().

For applicants who meet one of the following criteria, the Duolingo English Test score is acceptable alternatively as proof of English proficiency.

- have completed or are completing their Bachelor's program in universities which are located in countries other than the above countries () and indicated in the IAU World Higher Education Database \(WHED\) that English is included as the language of instruction; issue official letters proofing English as the sole instruction language with a hand-written signature of the head of the department or equivalent from universities.
- have worked full-time in a professional or academic environment where English has been solely used for at least three of the past six years in countries other than the above countries (); issue official letters proofing English as the sole official language with a hand-written signature of the head of the department or equivalent from working places.

For the Duolingo English Test, in addition to the submission of an electronic copy of the certified test result, applicants must arrange to forward the test result electronically to IPADS, the University of Tokyo. Only test reports taken on or after 1 December 2023 for Round One and 1 April 2024 for Round Two will be accepted.

English Test Waiver Conditions for Double Degree Programs—Applicants who have completed or are enrolled in a double degree program and wish to be exempted from the English language requirement based on study in one of the 7 designated English-speaking countries must have studied on-site in that country for at least two years for a bachelor's degree or at least one year for a master's degree. (An exception applies for the COVID period from 2020 to 2022.) Please note that periods of online enrollment will NOT be counted toward these requirements, even for single-degree programs.

However, the School reserves the right to request further evidence of English proficiency from all applicants, regardless of their nationalities and educational background, including those who qualify for the English Test Exemption. Those who fail to submit their proof of English language proficiency according to the aforementioned rules will not be considered for further admission process.

(5) Research work conducted by the applicant—A Bachelor’s thesis, Honor’s thesis, or equivalent. A work in progress, more than 1,000 words including research structures, is acceptable for those who have not completed their Bachelor’s degree at the time of application. If the work is written in a language other than English, an English summary must be attached. Those who graduated or are graduating from Bachelor’s programs with no research component are required to submit essay assignments undertaken for a university course, original essays on agricultural development or any other academic report of more than 1,000 words written during their Bachelor’s program as a substitute for their thesis.

(6) Proof of citizenship—A document issued by an official authority such as a copy of a passport ID page, a citizenship certificate or a certified copy of family registration. If the document is in a language other than English or Japanese, an English translation must be attached.

(7) Two letters of recommendation (by those nominated by the applicant at the online application)—These should be written by university academics who were nominated at the prescreening and are familiar with the applicant’s academic achievement, such as supervisors of undergraduate’s thesis (or Master’s thesis). Letters may be in either English or Japanese. They must be electronically scanned form (e.g. PDF) with an original hand-written signature and be directly sent by the referees from their official e-mail account given by the institution to which they belong to the IPADS Office. No application will be processed without letters of recommendation.

(8) Proof of examination fee payment—The details regarding the examination fee will be notified at the time of shortlisting.

Please note that

- Applicants are not required or expected to contact potential supervisors prior to admission.
- Submitted documents will not be returned. The examination fee is non-refundable.

5C. Selection, interviews, and notification of results

(1) Selection is based on all application documents submitted to the IPADS Office by the abovementioned deadline.

(2) An interview may be conducted via video link for a limited number of applicants. Applicants will be notified in advance if this is the case.

(3) The final result will be notified to all shortlisted applicants by 10 February 2026 (for Round One) or 12 May 2026 (for Round Two).

Please note that

In accordance with university regulations, deferral of admission is not permitted under any circumstances.

6. Legal notices

(1) The enrollment fee is not refundable once the student enrollment procedure has been completed.

(2) The University of Tokyo shall use the personal information obtained through the application process only for the purpose of 1) Selection procedures, 2) Notification of results and 3) Enrollment procedures. For those who enroll, this personal information and the examination results used for admission selection shall also be used for 4) Educational Affairs (school registration, attendance, etc.), 5) Student Support (healthcare, career support, application procedure for tuition exemption and scholarships, use of libraries, etc.) and 6) the Management of tuition payment.

(3) The selection results may be used for future improvement of both the admission procedures and education programs at the University of Tokyo.

(4) If any of the submitted documents is found to be falsified, the admission may be canceled even after enrollment.

(5) The University of Tokyo has established the “The University of Tokyo Security Export Control Regulations” in accordance with Japan’s “Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act”, and rigorously implements security export control for potential students before and after their enrollment on the basis of these regulations. In particular, pre-enrollment screenings are mandatory for all international students and also for Japanese students in certain circumstances.

Please be aware that applicants who fall under any of the conditions set out in the Act may not receive permission to enroll at the university or may have their research activities restricted after their enrollment even if they have passed the entrance examinations.

(6) Persons with disabilities who need special assistance during exams and study should contact the IPADS Office as soon as possible, and no later than 19 October, 2025 for Round One applicants and 15 February, 2026 for Round Two applicants.
