

Regulations of Full-time Graduate Student Scholarship Yonsei University Graduate School of Medicine (Wonju)

Revised 2025. 6. 1.

Article 1 (Objective)

This regulation states the principles of appointment of full-time graduate students and the scholarship award. All the principles will be effective in the boundaries of regulations stated by internal regulations of Yonsei University Graduate School and Yonsei University Graduate School of Medicine(Wonju).

Article 2 (Eligibility of Faculty Advisors)

Faculty members of the Wonju College of Medicine who hold the rank of Associate Professor or higher, as well as Assistant Professors with a doctoral degree, shall be eligible to serve as academic advisors for full-time scholarship students.

Article 3 (Application Period and Procedure)

- ① The full-time scholarship application shall be submitted to the Academic Affairs Office simultaneously with the admissions process for the respective semester.
- ② Applicants are required to submit a copy of certified English score (score only in the last 2 years will be effective).

Article 4 (Selection)

- ① The Graduate School Committee may set and submit a priority list for full-time graduate students to the University prior to regular admission process.
- ② The University shall select full-time scholarship students by taking into account the priority list for full-time scholarship applicants requested by the Graduate School Committee during the admissions review process.
- ③ Full-time international scholarship students are required to enroll in the National Health Insurance program after admission.
- ④ Full-time international students are required to submit at least one official English score (minimum score for qualification: TOEFL PBT 585, IBT 95, TOEIC 830, IELTS 6) to qualify for the full-coverage of scholarship including living expense. The Scholarship will not be awarded until the student submits the required official English score and there is no retroactive support. Full-time international scholarship students shall be granted the scholarship only if they have submitted an certified English score (minimum qualifying scores: TOEFL PBT 585, IBT 95, TOEIC 830, or IELTS 6) at the time of application. However, if the score is submitted after admission, the scholarship shall be granted only from the following semester and for the remaining regular semesters. The scholarship will not be awarded retroactively for any semester prior to the submission of the required score.
- ⑤ Domestic full-time scholarship students shall be granted the scholarship based on the certified English score submitted at the time of application. Students with a TOEIC score of 550 or higher shall receive full tuition coverage, while those with a TOEIC score of 450 or higher shall receive two-thirds of the tuition. However, if the score is submitted after admission, the scholarship shall be granted only from the following semester and for the remaining regular semesters. The scholarship will not be awarded retroactively for any semester prior to the submission of the required score.

Article 5 (Award and Benefits)

- ① Full tuition (excluding the admission and miscellaneous fees) will be awarded during regular registration (masters degree: 4 semesters, doctoral degree: 4 semesters, joint degree: 6 semesters).
- ② Graduate students who received from full-time scholarship shall be required to enroll in the National Health Insurance program and submit the proof of payment to the Academic Affairs Office once every semester. Failure to submit the proof of payment may result in the discontinuation of the scholarship.
- ③ The full-time scholarship shall be awarded to students who achieved a GPA of 3.5/4.3 or higher in the previous semester. However, if a student's academic performance falls below the required standard, the scholarship may be awarded only with the approval of the Graduate School Committee.

Article 6 (Administration and Evaluation)

- ① The advisor mentored a student who benefited full-time scholarship from this University must publish SCI(E)-level paper(s) related to the student's thesis project(s) within two years after the student's graduation. (Master's and Doctoral degree: minimum 1 article, joint degree: minimum 2 articles or 1 top 20% article). Only publications in which the graduate student is the first author and the advisor is the corresponding author shall be recognized for each degree program. (master, doctoral, or joint degree)
- ② The advisor is required to show reprint of publication or submit proof of his/her publication-to-be to the Department of Research and Graduate School Affairs in time.
- ③ The advisor who fails to meet the minimum publication requirements cannot take full-time graduate students for a period of time corresponding to the scholarship period of the previous trainee(s).

Article 7 (Withdrawal)

- ① The student and advisor are required to submit "Withdrawal form" and describe the reason of withdrawal, if the graduate student withdraws from full-time scholarship
- ② If the reason for withdrawal is deemed inappropriate or unacceptable by the Graduate School Committee, the advisor shall be restricted from supervising full-time graduate students for a period equivalent to the scholarship duration of the withdrawn student(s).

Article 8 (Refund)

If a student in the joint degree program changes to the Master's program, any tuition overpayment (excluding living expenses) shall be refunded according to the payment criteria for each type of scholarship.

Article 9 (Time for award)

The scholarship shall be awarded in form of waiving tuition at every semester (the specific duration indicated elsewhere).
